

Work in Charlottetown to benefit watershed

- The Guardian (Charlottetown)
- 10 Dec 2016

Work was underway recently on the City of Charlottetown's Miltonvale wellfield project. Duffy Construction Limited, which was awarded the $5.25 million tender, was working on two portions of the project in Winsloe. Along the road, workers were installing a 20-inch water main while work just off the road continued on two new water reservoirs. Once completed, five new wells will pump about 4,000 litres per minute and supply one quarter of Charlottetown's water supply, easing the strain on the Winter River-Tracadie Bay watershed.